Home Style: Alessi "Lilliput" Salt and Pepper Shakers

My love for Alessi is long and lasting, having first discovered this fun, pretty, and happy design line in Paris, many years ago. I try to contain myself and not buy EVERYTHING they make, but it's tough.

These "Lilliput" Salt and Pepper shakers are one of my favorite kitchen items. They have magnets at the bottom and can stick to either the long thin pole in the middle, around which you can spin them (or your child can spin them, as is the case in our family) or be firmly planted on the metal base.

At $32 per set, I think the smiles these will bring to you and your kids are well worth it.
