NotNeutral's set of three trivets can be used indoors, but holding up outdoors is another matter. Made of steel and coated paint, these three trivets in three different hues of blue and three different snowflake designs are built to brave the elements, even during winter, which is probably when you'll want to show them off. In warm-winter climates, notNeutral's Frosty Snowflake set will dazzle up your deck either on the table or under flowerpots, as long as the pots are smaller than the trivets. Tired of traditional reds, greens and golds? This collection isn't holiday-specific; maybe season-specific, but that gives you an extra three months or so of enjoyment. These designs also come in sets of six garden stakes or four ornaments.
