

It's a Hanger. It's a Light. It's a Shirt Lamp.

I'm trying to imagine what went through the mind of the designer here... "Hmm, people need light. People need a place to hang their clothes... Boom! Clothes Hanger Lamp."

Basically a hanger with a fluorescent bulb inside an acrylic frame, you choose the style and color of the shade by hanging one of your shirts over it. (And at $323 for the thing, I'm surprised they don't at least throw in an old bowling shirt or something.)

Think of it as an adult version of the bandana-over-the-lamp look from your college dorm. $323.50

www.allmodern.com